TESTA VS.
THE BISHOP

A Little Breeze in the Episcopal Diocese
Just Now.

The evening papers had a story of a postponed meeting of the Hawaiian Congregation of St. Andrew's at which F. J. Testa offered a resolution protesting against the course of Bishop Restarick in asking for the resignation of Rev. Mr. Fitz, the priest in charge of the congregation. The Bulletin made the matter appear as sensational as possible, apparently taking the side of Testa in the controversy.

Bishop Restarick was interviewed last evening by a representative of the Advertiser who called attention to the account printed in the Bulletin.

The Bishop hesitated to talk, saying that matters between himself and a priest or a congregation were matters for kindly Christian conference and not for public discussion.

In answer to direct questions, the Bishop admitted that some of the things which he is stated to have said were incorrectly reported and others were most misleading. He said that he was sorry that the report appeared because the Hawaiian people had always treated him with kindness, courtesy and respect and one who read the account might think that this was not the case last night.

The Bishop absolutely refused to say anything more. The reporter imagined from his persistent silence that he was quite willing for people generally to form their opinion of the whole matter from the character of the man who tried at the beginning to disturb the meeting and who did not, we are told by one present, even get a second to his motion.

There is no reason why Bishop Restarick should make any explanations to the public when he is on one side of a proposition and F. J. Testa on the other. The people of the islands know Bishop Restarick and they know Testa.

On inquiry a vestryman informed the reporter that a half of Mr. Fitz's salary was paid by the white congregation and that he understood that the Bishop paid a portion of the remainder.

FOR SWEET CHARITY'S
SAKE--A TRUE TALE

The day was fair to gaze upon: all nature seemed in a joyous mood, for it was in the balmy climate of a fair tropical isle. But in one lowly household sadness and desolation cast its gloomy pall. The widow sat viewing her helpless little ones. For years the father, while manfully struggling to furnish them food and shelter, had also been hopelessly struggling with the grim, relentless specter of the white plague. Consumption had set its mark on him. At last his slender resources were gone, he was unable longer to toil, and only the hospital remained. But death was merciful, at least to him, and soon cut short his agony. His body was borne to the grave and his earthly career is over.

But what is the position of that widowed mother? What a flood of agony must rend her heart as she realizes how black and hopeless the future appears. Those around her, who would fain assist her, are almost as poor and needy as herself. The kindly minister of religion has helped her out of his slender store, but he has so little and calls are so many. He lays the case before the charitable society and asks its assistance, which is readily given as long as funds remain.

The above is but one of scores of similar cases that are constantly arising. The drain on the funds of the charitable societies are heavy and constant, and they must be constantly replenished, if the good work is to go on.

The Catholic Benevolent Union now appeals to your generosity and asks your assistance in aid of the entertainment given under its auspices at St. Louis College Hall, on Thursday evening, May 24. A fine musical concert and moving picture exhibition will be given, which, entirely aside from the worthy cause assisted, will be well worth the price of admission, which is only fifty cents. Even if you are unable to attend, you will never regret purchasing a ticket or two. Don't forget the date—Thursday, May 24, at 8 p. m., in St. Louis College Hall.

AN AMERICAN REMEDY.

There is probably no medicine manufactured that can be found in more homes in the United States than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It has been in general use for over thirty years and each successive epidemic of diarrhoea and dysentery during this time has tested its merit and proved its superiority over all similar preparations. The reliability and prompt cures of this remedy have won for it the confidence of many physicians who often prescribe it in their practice. No case has ever yet been reported where its use has failed to give relief. This remedy is for sale in this city by Benson, Smith & Co., Agents for Hawaii.
